

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL.

VOL. XXI.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1893

NO. 56

GRAB ORCHARD.

—It is exceedingly dry and farmers predict a scarcity of Fall grass without we have copious showers in the next few days.

—Madam Record Jones is here in the interest of the simplest, cheapest and best chart we have ever seen. Mr. Bob White, her agent, is with her.

—Mrs. J. R. Lawless returned to Lexington last week. Mr. Lawless has nearly completed his new cottage, which will be very convenient and cozy.

—Mr. James B. Leavell, was here last week. Mrs. Irene Burke and children are at W. F. Dillon's. Mrs. E. W. Jones of Pineville, is with friends here. Charley Singleton returned from Louisville to be present at the sale which occurs next Saturday.

—R. H. Brough received a few days since his second importation of thoroughbred Duroc Red Jersey swine this season, and they are beauties. Good judges pronounce Mr. Brough's herd the best they ever saw. He tells he has in his herd hogs from the very best herds in Ohio and Illinois. They grow to be very large, with proper treatment weighing from 700 to 1,000 lbs. at from 18 months to two years old and fatten at any age. John Buchanan sold to Wm. Moreland 35 fat hogs at 5c. Wm. Moreland bought ten veal calves of various parties around town at from $2 to $4 per head.

—We have seen two mothers recently whose hearts are nearly broken over the drunkenness of their sons; both bright boys just entering manhood, but entering it through the broad gate. We know these boys well; know they have plenty of feeling for the sorrow of others and that each loves his mother with a true devotion, yet they will every few days open afresh the wounds they have made in mother's heart by getting drunk. The sighs and tears and prayers of mothers and sisters seem powerless to check them and they go on and on giving way in their weakness to their terrible thirst for whisky. One of these mothers is afraid of her boy! Just think of it! Afraid of the child who has been her life-long care and study, for whom she would endure every privation, undergo every suffering, who has been her constant pride from babyhood to man's estate—think of this child causing his mother to tremble with fear, to hide when she hears him coming, because she is afraid he will kill her or some member of the family while drunk! Oh! boys, I wished very much for you to have been near enough to have heard the sighs that came from the heart you have so nearly broken! To have seen the tears as they trickled down the furrows that your conduct has made in the cheek of your best, truest friend when she talked of the condition you were in Saturday, and said with choked voice that she did not know what to do; she had said all she could say, and would have to let him go! Think for a moment of the world pitying your mother over your treatment of her! Now don't let her feel this way any longer. Resolve to be men, for you alone can do this; turn your back on whisky and those who use it. They get your brains, your money, your reputation, and leave you without a staff to help you in life, not fit to live, not good enough to die. When you read these lines say "I can and will show the world I am still worthy of respect and trust," for many eyes are upon you; many know the good you can do; many would be glad to give you a lift out of this mire if you will but let them.

—Pierre Lorillard's great race horse, Lamplighter, was sold to G. Walbaum, the Guttenburg turf magnate, for $20,000. Mr. Lorillard paid $30,000 for him.

—A blooming jay, who was too poor to take a paper, sent $2 to a yankee to learn how to stop a horse from slobbering and received this information, "Learn him to spit."

—The Madison county fair grounds were sold at auction Saturday to Shelby Irvine for $6,300. They include 374 acres of land, an amphitheatre, houses, stables, track, &c.

—In the first section of the live stock exhibit at the World's Fair, closing last Saturday, Kentucky won 24 first prizes, 16 second prizes, 7 third prizes and four fourth prizes, besides 4 medals and one $250 cup.

—William M. Wilcher, of Carpenter's Creek, Casey county, died on the 7th inst. of typhoid fever. On the 8th his funeral was preached at Roberts Chapel by Rev. John Kirk.

"At early morn to work he goes,
Through wintry rain and sleet;
In summer when he reaps and mows
He pants beneath the heat;
And what he earns he shares with me,
How very thankful I should be."
J. H. M.

A Hearty Welcome.

is given Stockton's Antiseptic by those who have suffered with Dyspepsia or indigestion, for it is a sure cure. It stops fermentation in the stomach and allows nature time to digest the food. Try it; it has never failed with others and will not in your case.
Ask A. R. Penny, Stanford, for it.

DANVILLE.

—Elder J. S. Kendrick, of the Christian church, closed a very successful meeting at Parksville, Saturday night. The conversions numbered 30.

—Rev. J. W. Lynch, the Talmage of the future, resumed his preaching at the Baptist church on Sunday. He has spent a very pleasant vacation rusticating and visiting the World's Fair.

—A large consignment of bass and newlights from the U. S. Fish Commission reached here Sunday morning for distribution in the various waters of Boyle. They were all dead, however, and a new lot will be sent at an early date.

—The Danville Theological Seminary opens Thursday. The prospects for a successful session are very flattering. Five of Centre's graduating class of '93, A. R. Griggs, of Hustonville, among the number, will enter the seminary the coming session.

—City Attorney W. O. Goodloe, who was recently found guilty of gambling and fined $50 and costs, was granted a rehearing and trial set for last Friday. Several important witnesses for the prosecution being absent the trial was postponed to 6th of October.

—It is doubtful if there is a town and county of comparative size in the United States that will send more representatives to the World's Fair than Danville and Boyle. The exodus averages about 20 people a week. It is estimated that at least $35,000 will have been transferred from Boyle to Chicago when the fair is over.

—Centre College begins its 74th session to-morrow. Students are coming in by the car-load. President Young, a D. D. for many years and now an L. L. D., the latter degree having been conferred upon him by Princeton last year, thinks that despite the hard times the attendance will be much greater than last year and consequently the largest since the war.

—Danville horses have been coming to the front right along in recent contests. Old Charley P. lowered his record to 2:11 at Indianapolis, Wednesday. On the same day Elkin won the 2:25 trot at Bardonia, purse $300. On Tuesday Guinet won the 2:25 pace, purse $1,500, at Chicago; best time 2:13. On Thursday Gambrel won the free-for-all pace at New Albany; Georgia Lee the $1,300 stake for three-year-olds at Chicago and Harrietta got second money in the 2:12 trot at Chicago; purse $1,500.

—There are several light cases of diphtheria in town. An urbanely-minded M. D. thinks there should be an ordinance compelling the display of danger cards at residences where contagious diseases exist. He says that neighbors' children have several times rushed in the room of a patient ill with diphtheria before they could be stopped. It is doubted, however, if the red cards would prove sufficient warning to children without a parent's discipline.

—The most familiar sight that will greet the gaze of the verdant fresh as he alights from the train to spend a 10-months in the classic halls of Centre, will be the flaming posters eloquently announcing Ringling Bros' "Greatest on Earth." The anticipation of the exhibition which takes place the 23d, will doubtless greatly aid in tiding him over that home sick period, which comes into the lives of all upon the first extended stay from under the paternal roof.

—Circuit Court convened yesterday. The most interesting cases of the term are the trial of L. D. Woods, of Cleveland, O., for killing Barney Higgins, which begins to-day, and the damage suit of Policeman Steele, of Versailles, against the police committee of the town council and Chief of Police Helm. Woods has employed Hon. J. W. Yerkes, of this place, and Hon. O. H. Waddle, of Somerset, to defend him. Messrs. Breckinridge and Felix Fox are counsel for Steele.

—The detectives, Bennett and White, who worked up the whisky and gambling cases here during the fair, returned last week to be present at the Goodloe trial. Immediately upon their arrival they started for 2d street and in a short while a volley of shots rent the still night air. Mysteriously no one was hurt and of course there are two sides of the affair. The detectives claim that while walking up 2d the gas lights were turned out and the negroes began to rock and fire at them and they returned the shots. The negroes say the detectives flourished pistols and used foul language toward them and began shooting without cause. At the trial Bennett was fined $20 and costs for disturbing the peace.

—The residents of Danville are determined to wash the sobriquet of "Dusty" from their town, as well as the actual article from the streets at no matter what cost or trouble. They are aroused on the water works question as they have never been before. Mr. Chester B. Davis, an expert hydraulic engineer from Chicago, was engaged last week to make examination of the various sources for water supply. He made an exhaustive report Saturday and recommended Dix River above the mouth of Clark's run the most available source and a remarkably good one. He thinks that the best system of water works in Kentucky can be built at a cost of $90,000. A vote will be had on the question at an early day and Danville will go decidedly wet.

(Advocate.)

—The trial of L. D. Woods for the murder of Barney Higgins is set for Tuesday, 12th.

—Mrs. Nancy J. Caldwell, widow of J. S. Caldwell, died at her home in Mitchellsburg, Thursday night, after an illness of several weeks.

—Peter Gentry sold to Goldsmith 187 head of export cattle at 4c. They averaged 1,360 pounds and were delivered Monday. The amount realized was more than $12,000.

—About the entire editorial page of Saturday's paper is devoted to the report of Expert Davis on the water works question. He finds that Dix River is the most available and surest supply and that the probable cost of their construction will be $95,000.

NEWSY NOTES.

—Nicholasville has increased the liquor license to $300.

—The last was the banner week of the World's Fair, the attendance being 1,119,689.

—The G. A. R. decided that the next National encampment shall be held in Pittsburgh.

—Gus Richardson has notified A. J. Gross that he will contest his nomination for the Senate.

—A Chattanooga judge has decided that progressive euchre is gambling and must be punished as such.

—County Clerk Lem W. Hill, of Madison, is dead. He had just been re-nominated by a majority of 471.

—Frank Montgomery shot and killed Henry Carpenter at Pineville in a family quarrel. They were brothers-in-law. —The American mission at Berlin has been advanced to the grade of an embassy and Minister Runyan was made ambassador.

—Scott Fields, a Corinth youth, shot and killed Martha Hanally, a dissolute woman, because she was too free with her smiles.

—The resignation of Josiah Quincy, Assistant Secretary of State, has been accepted. He wants to run for governor of Massachusetts.

—It is said that C. J. Flemming of Woodford, has been slated for revenue agent for Kentucky over 40 applicants. It is worth $4,000.

—A mob hung Ben Jackson, a negro, at Quincy, Miss. He threw poison into a well, causing the death of two children of Thomas Woodruff.

—Four negro children were burned to death in Woodford. The parents had left them in the house by themselves while they went away.

—Ex-U. S. Senator W. B. Machen, once congressman and railroad commissioner, has been adjudged insane and placed in a lunatic asylum.

—The town of Lockport, La., was struck by a cyclone and left a mass of ruins. Six persons were killed and several were seriously injured.

—During the duelscene in Romeo and Juliet, at Pittsburg, Thomas Keene, the great tragedian, accidentally thrust his sword into the eye, destroying the sight of Lawrence Lowell, the other duelist.

—Scranton, Iowa, now has the summer snake. The reptile is reported to 40 feet long and 10 inches in diameter, with a head like a calf and a whistle which terrorizes every one who hears it.

—Fred P. O'Connor, the young train dispatcher, whose mistakes in giving orders caused the fearful disaster on the Pan Handle at the Colehour Bend, has skipped and his whereabouts are unknown.

—John Riddle, a young society and business man of Henderson, committed suicide. He was married Friday to Miss Lora McMullen and left her at 4 o'clock next morning, going to a hotel, where he shot himself below the heart.

—It is said that ex-Sheriff J. W. Jones, of Davies county will be backed by Governor Brown and Secretary of State Headley for warden of the Frankfort prison. The other members favor Senator George and the usual row and rumus is assured.

—Wm. Whalen, in jail at Xenia, O., for assaulting a farmer with the intention of robbing him, has confessed that he and three confederates killed Wm. Koegler and Lon Keys, some three years ago. The killing had remained a mystery till Whalen's confession.

—At Franklin, Ind., George Moss rented a residence and opened out a saloon in it. The citizens objected to the sale of whisky in the town and got rid of him by placing dynamite under his house. He and his wife were both hurt and were glad enough to get off with their lives.

—O. N. Bradburn, the founder of the Knights of Honor, died in Louisville, Saturday. He saw the order spread into 44 States, with 4,000 subordinate lodges and $57,000,000 paid to widows and orphans, and yet he was not a member of it at the time of his death and will get none of its benefits.

LANCASTER, BARRARD COUNTY.

—It will be just eight weeks until another term of the circuit court.

—Messrs. J. Joseph and M. Baum closed their stores to-day, it being the Jewish new year.

—Geo. T. Arnold will leave this week to locate a claim in the Cherokee strip to be thrown open to settlers.

—The race for the office of police judge is warming up. There are now six candidates in the field and each is confident of success.

—A very enjoyable hop was given at the Mason Hotel, Friday evening, in honor of Misses Jennie and Marie Warren, of Stanford. About 15 couples were present.

—The present board of examining surgeons for pension applicants tendered their resignations to take effect the last of this month and the newly appointed M. Da. will go on duty at that time.

—Al Thompson, the cattle thief and Dan Reid, the colored house-breaker, convicted at the last term of court, were taken to the penitentiary to-day. The former goes up for two years and the latter for one. Canor Roberts, who was given three years for killing Deputy Jailor Bales, of Madison county, was not taken as his case goes up to the court of appeals.

—Misses Jennie and Marie Warren have returned to their home in Stanford.

—Mrs. Nell Elkin has returned to Atlanta. Misses Laura Smith, Katie Walden, Alie and Bessie Marksbury are attending the World's Fair. J. Joseph is in Cincinnati this week buying goods. W. A. Berkele, of Surveyor Collier's office, was here Sunday. J. P. Sandifer, of Middleboro, is in town. Eld. R. Graham Frank returns to the Bible College at Lexington to-day.

—R. E. Hughes, local editor of the Record-Homestead, has resigned his place and leaves this morning for Anderson county, where he goes on duty as U. S. Storekeeper. Mr. Henry Cartwright, an excellent young gentleman, of Danville, has accepted the position on the paper vacated by Mr. Hughes and commenced his work to-day. Mr. Cartwright has been in the newspaper business for some time. Here's wishing both gentlemen much success in their new places.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Lt. Smith, of the U. S. recruiting force, married Miss Annie Smith at South Portsmouth, O., five hours after he first met her. Their correspondence began by a photograph of the bride falling into the hands of the groom and it led to the result named.

—At about sunrise this morning, at the Presbyterian church, Middleboro, Miss Fannie Pennington, the handsome and stylish daughter of Squire T. M. Pennington, will become Mrs. P. E. Kemp, immediately after which the new pair will leave for Chicago. There were no cards, but their friends were expected to be present. Misses Annie and Mary Alcorn went up yesterday to attend.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. W. A. Slaymaker will preach at the Baptist church, Crab Orchard, next Thursday night at 7:30.

—Rev. W. E. Arnold, wife and children left yesterday to attend the Methodist Conference at Maysville. Mr. Arnold has made a most excellent pastor and the church hopes that he will be returned, in which the community generally unites, for he is held in the highest esteem by everybody.

—The Rev. Dr. Gifford, of Chicago, being censured for going to a club banquet where seven kinds of wine were served, replied that he would go to hell to pray if he was invited. The doctor seems to be going that way without even an invitation, but whether he will pray after he gets there is like the "trick untied, hard to be justified."

—Our good friend, Squire E. B. Caldwell, Jr., yesterday brought us in the minutes of the Cumberland River Association, which met recently at the Double Springs church at New Waynesburg. It represents 16 churches with a membership of 2,042, the increase by letter and baptism during the year being 117 and the decrease by death but 15. The next meeting will be with the Buck Creek church about Sept. 1, 1894.

—The treasury reports $205,862,600 in United States bonds held to secure national bank circulation.

—This is bad news. The president says he is going to let District Attorney Jolly fill out his full four years.

—The Confederate monument at Chicago will be unveiled October 7. Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge will be the orator of the day.

—The Irish Home Rule Bill was rejected by the House of Lords by a vote of 419 to 41, and the "grand old man," Gladstone, was sat severely upon.

—George Dye, a wealthy Georgia planter, is dead and left his fortune of over half a million dollars to the negro family which had attended him for more than 50 years.
